

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Component Supply Chain Impacts

News of a new contagious virus, Coronavirus or COVID-19, has been dominating news reports since February 2020. Because the virus is new and the future spread cannot be predicted, the news has created fears of a worldwide pandemic and has created public panic.

Component manufacturers such as Analog Devices and Amphenol have already indicated that earnings will be off their quarterly estimates. Large OEMs such as Apple have announced they would not meet quarterly revenue expectations due to the Coronavirus. Economic impacts to companies can be significant to dramatic.
